Bethlehem Council Hopeful Tony Simao Posts Pics of His Penis on the Internet

If one were to want to run for public office, I think there are a few things they should probably take care of.

The first would be to call any ex-gfs or bfs that they had pissed off in the past and totally promise them something if you get elected; that way they won't start saying shit.

The second would probably be to DELETE ALL NAKED PHOTOS OF YOURSELF ONLINE.

Sigh.

Northampton County Democratic Chairman Walt Garvin is calling out a Republican candidate for Bethlehem City Council for having nude photographs on the Internet.

The photos were posted on one website as of this afternoon. Garvin said additional nude photos of Tony Simao were posted on another website, but were removed about two weeks ago.

Simao did not deny the nude images were his but said they could only be found if someone were digging up dirt on him. The photographs that show genitals are posted only under a user name, but Simao has used the same moniker on other websites. Simao's face is not seen in the nude photos. Ah, yes, these people are so wrong for finding the pictures of your penis you posted on the interwebs.

Seriously?

Sure, you didn't send them to anyone and you totally have every right, I guess, to post your penis so that other dudes can look at it. However, if you are running for public office, is this something that you think you really need to continue to do?

I mean, a little compromise never hurt anyone.

Also, yes, I could find these pictures online. I am not going to. Sorry. My computer would judge me again and I can't go through all that.
